Bureuacratic Marxism instead of Keynes – Gotha, Grundrisse and Capital, Manuscripts, even Paris Commune and Class Struggles in France, and Aleatory Politics, and even Addages on Feurbach and forms of Trade Union Complexities to Keynes or even Contemporary styles of Economics (1968 – 1988, collected writings with Paul Sweezy as Source)

By Paul Mattick

I. Monopoly Capital

And so each country will have a monopoly capital with a factory process, which is called manufacturing heavy automobile industries. There can also be agriculture and even garment sectors and forms of complexity in cheap labouring processes like town clusters of the type doing mechanic works, or even types of formalisations of say landed labour and rentier classes in suburbanization, and forms of even trading in agrarian businesses for cheap forms of stores in the city, or even legalism on the process of trade union managements and supervision for newspaper products and packaging, meat or electronic stores.

II. Now Aggolomerating the Labour processes in Marx – how Organised Working Class and Trade Unionism, shifts the process of labour to Organised Unions – how Demand then is Managed by Trade Unions – not public spending by > Governments for the anti-working class of middle class and landowning classes, or supervisors and contractors and specialists and such mediations called power

In fact then we should be political about economics and see it as economics – large bureaucratic trade union mass politics then will organize the working class under this form of re-composition and will fight the many mediations of supervision and contractualism which then cause the dominance of unemployment in Keynes’ sense.

III. Bureuacratic Marxism then As Economics

I mean therefore monopoly capital, domestic public sector capital and manufacturing and agriculture even commercial classes all under the unionizing process and against unemployment – which then is a hike in demand and victory of the Communist Party in Brumiare and Gotha senses.

IV. Bureuacratising Models in CPSU – Yugouslavia Self-Management as Successful Model of Politics and Economics in fact – 1950 – 1980

In fact then Yugouslavia practices a self-management working class shop-floor democracy with the council format of democratic wage conduct and an innovative public sector official culture of the empresario and then in fact also innovates under the Government which directs legalism and reporting to the leading directors of the company.

Now trade unionism is successful and so is intellectual class needs for Gotha Communist party in power and this then is a dictatorship of the proletariat in CPSU.

It promotes a well organized and unionizing culture and all the type of labour fall under its axis of organizing mass strikes with peasants – the massification then leads to the simplicity of Marxism-Leninism – not the complexity of types of labour and supervision – but masses and unionizing masses.

V. Conclusion – Report on Mass Strike – 1978

And so the mass strike in Yougouslavia then meant also allied working class quarters being mobilized under the mass strike – and this stops in fact rentierism and landlordism because it is a political fact – the political demand is wage but also contradicting supervision culture and rural landlordism – this is how the working class leads the peasants. The mass fusing then is a political fact of the culture of types of oppresions among the labouring classes.
